Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Thursday 21 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Persistent rain, sleet and snow clearing to showers.

Today:
Rain, sleet and snow will clear the south by mid-morning but will continue to feed into the northeast. By late afternoon this will mostly be replaced by scattered wintry showers across the north and west. Strong winds, particularly around coasts.

Tonight:
The wintry showers will continue through this evening and overnight in the north and west, with the winds gradually easing.

Friday:
Winds will continue to ease through Friday with wintry showers across the north and west during the day, sunny spells elsewhere. Showers becoming mainly confined to coasts by evening.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
There will be a good deal of dry weather over the coming days with prolonged sunshine, but scattered showers will continue across the Northern and Western Isles during the weekend.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.